

Shabu-shabu of octopus

By Public Transport

Dining

Wakkanai is Japan's premier spot for North Pacific giant octopus fishing. Fresh octopus leg, sliced thinly through the fibers, are submerged in a pot of boiling “dashi” (broth) and stirred. Eat them with vegetables, cooked in the same way. This is the speciality dish of Wakkanai. It's popular among tourists as a famous souvenir and authorized as “Wakkanai brand”.

Soya-kuroushi beef

By Public Transport

Dining

The cattle graze on the lush pastures of rolling hills – in the northernmost farm of Japan. Based on basic policy on product safety, we give them locally produced roughage, and raise and care them from baby calves. Soya-kuroushi beef has lean meat with rich taste and flavor, and no excess fat. Aside from being served in local restaurants, Wakkanai beef is also popular as a souvenir and authorized as “Wakkanai brand”.

Yuchi-imo potato

By Public Transport

Dining

In the “yuchi” area of Wakkanai, Yuchi-imo potato is cultivated in safely and high quality agriculture system. Therefore it is registered “Yes! Clean”. Especially, potatoes, which are stored in storage “ice house” during the winter, are changed to special taste with a high sugar content in spring, so restaurants or confectionary are interested in it. Yuchi-imo potato is authorized as “Wakkanai brand”.

Wakkanai Port North Breakwater Dome

By Foot

Main Attractions

A symbolic part of Wakkanai architecture, the semiarch design that resembles "kamaboko" (fish cake) cut lengthwise showing its combined inner arch and dome, helps buildings overcome the strong winds and high waves of Wakkanai. The Northern Breakwater Dome is a symbol of livelier times when people could cross over to the Sakhalin. Reminiscent of ancient Roman architecture, it attracts a great deal of attention as a building whose design is unparalleled in the world.
