

A photograph of three people on the deck of a ship. On the left, a woman in an orange jumpsuit and hard hat is laughing. In the center, a man in a white jumpsuit with 'ROSSMAN' on the back is seen from behind. On the right, a man in a white hard hat and a high-visibility vest is looking towards the other two. The background shows the sea and a hazy sky.

CURRENT STATUS AND FUTURE PERSPECTIVES

Richard Clayton – Chief Maritime Analyst
IHS Maritime & Trade
richard.clayton@ihs.com

Increase in global demand for shipping and maritime human resources

Critical Questions

Why are there never enough skilled and experienced seafarers?

How should shipping respond to the increasing focus on Asia-Pacific region?

How can we encourage seafarers to think of shipping as a career – not just a job?

Do we understand the difference between maritime training and education?

Demand for seafarers is growing, and so is demand for the men and women who will lead our industry in the next generation...