Izakaya(Japanese style bar)

By Public Transport

Dining

Izakaya, or Japanese-style bar, serves Japanese-style home-cooked meals and alcoholic beverages at reasonable prices. They can often be found in "Yokocho" alleys near train stations. As each serving is small, the bars are ideal for groups as well as people spending time alone. The majority of izakaya open in the evening, but some are open in the daytime. Before paying a visit, master one word: "Kanpai!" (Cheers!).

Enjoyable four seasons in the parks of Tokyo

Topics

Tokyo is home to many verdant parks that offer the experience of Japan's four seasons. Ueno Park and Chidorigafuchi Park attract an especially large number of tourists during the cherry blossom season in spring. Hamarikyu Gardens offer the sight of a traditional Japanese garden tinted with plum blossoms in spring and scarlet leaves in autumn against a backdrop of skyscrapers. These parks are the perfect place to go on a stroll and appreciate Japan's unique sense of nostalgia between seasons.
