Ajiro squid mince

The taste of mother's home cooking has been handed down in the Ajiro area from a long time ago. It is a local dish that uses locally landed minced squid, horse mackerel, mackerel, and other fish and adds chopped squid, vegetables and seasonings to make fish balls, and then cooks them by "frying" or "grilling".

Dried fish

Web-Site: http://e-sites.jp/web/ikamen_pc/

Horse mackerel, pike, cuttlefish, squid, sardines, sardines, flounder, flatfish, and ebony... The representative souvenirs of Atami, with its rich fishing grounds and the best fishing port in Izu, Ajiro, is just a dried fish. The secret of the deliciousness is that the fresh fish are landed early in the morning, filleted quickly, and dried in the sea breeze and sun.

Onsen Steamed bun

It is said that Atami is the birthplace of the Onsen Steamed buns, since people came up with the idea of steaming the buns at the sight of a spouting hot spring. There are many ingenious products such as those kneaded with a drinking spring, and they are just hot spring buns.
