

Lake Juniko (Aoike Pond)

By Public Transport

Main Attractions

Lake Juniko is the collective name for the 33 lakes and ponds found around the UNESCO World Heritage Site Shirakami Sanchi. Among these Aoike Pond is a mysterious blue color, as if someone has poured blue ink into it, and the decayed large beech trees in the water reach across the pond. The pond's appearance changes depending the sun and the angle from which you look at it.

Osamu Dazai Memorial Museum (Shayokan)

By Public Transport

Main Attractions

This building with a gabled roof was built by Tsushima Gen'emom (Osamu Dazai's father) who was a powerful landlord in the Meiji Period. Construction was completed in 1907. Everything is built with Aomori's hiba trees, even the rice granaries. The first floor is 920 square meters and the second is 380 square meters, with the total land area amounting to 2250 square meters when you include the gardens and attached buildings. Once the war broke out the Tsushima family parted with the house and in 1996 it was bought by Kanagi Town, restored to its original state, and is now a memorial museum.

Goshogawara Tachineputa Festival

Topics

Huge festival floats are paraded around Goshogawara to the calls of "Yatte-mare! Yatte-mare" and accompanied by powerful traditional music. The large floats are roughly 23 meters tall and weigh around 19 tons. The overwhelming power of these large floats fascinates the spectators that line the streets. Each float has a theme which is expressed through the float's elaborate design and vivid colors. The exquisite balance between the powerful music and the beautifully lit up Tachineputa floats is not to be missed.
