

Soma's new specialty 'Fuku Tora'

By Public Transport

Dining

'Fuku Tora' is the name given to the wild pufferfish caught off the coast of Soma, which meet certain criteria, such as size, being over 35 centimeters, and being caught using longline fishing methods. The 'Fuku Tora' has a good texture and a deep umami flavor, which you can enjoy through various dishes like sashimi, hot pot, and fried dishes.

National important intangible folk cultural property "Soma Nomaoi"

By Public Transport

Topics

Soma Nomaoi an important national intangible folk cultural asset, is one of the major traditional cultural events in Japan which dates back in the Warring State Period and has a history of more than 1000 years. The festival is celebrated across all the former Soma Domain territories (2 cities, 4 towns, 1 village in Soma and Futaba Counties) with Minamisoma City being the main venue. This three day festival is a reenactment of the pomp and splendor in the warring state period. With more than 400 mounted horsemen in traditional samurai armor participating,

Soma City Traditional Soul Consolation Memorial Hall.

By Foot

Topics

This facility exhibits scenes of Soma's original landscape before the Great East Japan Earthquake, as well as records of the disaster. Visitors can also view video footage from the day of the earthquake. This place was created to serve as a mental stronghold for the bereaved family, to pass on the lessons learned from the disaster to the next generation, and to promote disaster prevention awareness. It also includes a memorial with the names of the victims of the earthquake engraved upon it.

Matsukawa-Ura Prefectural Natural Park.

By Foot

Topics

The only lagoon in Fukushima Prefecture, selected as one of the 100 Scenic Spots of Japan because of its beautiful scenery. It's often referred to as Komatsushima, due to the small islands, like Mojima, scattered around. Crossing over the Matsukawa-Ura Bridge and above the tunnel of Uno Cape, the chalky white Uno Cape Lighthouse towers over you. Beyond that lies the Ozu Matsukawa Line which allows for a panoramic view of both the Pacific Ocean and Matsukawa-Ura, along a straight line approximately 5km long. This is a remarkable view spot. The area around Matsukawa-Ura - where you can enjoy a variety of landscapes from morning till night and throughout the four seasons - is ideal for driving, cycling, and walking.
