

Sea urchin bowl

By Foot

Dining

Rishiri Island's sea urchin rice bowls (uni-don) can only be eaten during sea urchin fishing season (Short spined sea urchin: mid-June to late August, Kita purple sea urchin: early June to mid-September). Rishiri Island's sea urchin, grown and raised on Rishiri kelp, has an exceptional taste unlike sea urchin caught elsewhere. It has a rich sweetness that spreads around your mouth.

Senhoushimisaki park

By Public Transport

Main Attractions

From here you can get a view of the sea all the way to the peak of Mt. Rishiri at 1,721m. There are many strange looking rocks from when Mt. Rishiri erupted and poured them into the sea. Depending on the weather, the area can take on a mysterious quality.

At natural beach observation points, the sea water gets very transparent and you can see kelp and sea urchin clearly.
