

Shirasu-don (whitebait rice bowl)

By Foot

Dining

This rice bowl dish is filled to the brim with fresh whitebait caught off the coast of Ibaraki Prefecture's Oarai Town. Raw whitebait must be eaten the day they're caught which is what makes Oarai's shirasu-don raw whitebait rice bowls so special. In fact, seafood lovers from around Japan and beyond visit the town just to sample the super-fresh whitebait. Mix a little grated ginger and soy sauce into the bowl for an even bigger flavour punch.

Hitachi Wagyu Beef

By Public Transport

Dining

Only approved cattle farmers who raise Black Wagyu Cattle to the strictest of standards are allowed to sell their beef under the name 'Hitachi Wagyu Beef'. Like all Wagyu Beef, Hitachi Wagyu Beef is known for the marbled fat throughout the beef that gives it its delicious flavour, but it is also particularly well-known for the superior quality of its red meat. Kobe Beef may be more well-known, but don't decide on your favourite until you've tried Hitachi Wagyu Beef for yourself!

Fukuroda Falls

By Public Transport

Main Attractions

At 120m tall and 73m wide, Fukuroda Falls is one of Japan's three greatest waterfalls. The falls flows over four levels of cliff, earning it its other name of 'Yodo' or Four Falls. The landscape changes dramatically throughout the four seasons, from the fresh green of Spring and refreshing Summer to the bright Autumn foliage and dramatic frozen curtains of water in the Winter; another reason why Fukuroda is also known as the Four Falls.

Kairakuen Garden

By Public Transport

Main Attractions

Kairakuen is counted as one of Japan's three greatest gardens, alongside Kenrokuen in Kanazawa and Korakuen in Okayama. It was first opened in 1842 by Tokugawa Nariaki, the 9th lord of the Mito Clan, as a place for local citizens to relax and enjoy themselves. During the Ume Matsuri (Plum Blossom Festival) in late February to early March, more than 3000 plum trees of 100 different varieties bloom, filling the garden with a floral fragrance.

Aqua World (Ibaraki Prefectural Oarai Aquarium)

 By Public Transport

 Topics

Home to approximately 580 species, Aqua World Oarai boasts one of the most diverse aquatic exhibitions in all Japan, and is widely recognized as housing the largest number of shark species in the country. In the last few years the aquarium has seen exciting new additions thanks to its "Come on, Shinsekai!" initiative, including a mystical area with jellyfish of all shapes and sizes, and a musical performance where over 15,000 iwashi sardines swirl under changing lights! Aqua World is also invested in the discovery and research of new species of jellyfish, and is the first center in Japan (fifth world-wide) to successfully breed sand tiger sharks.
