

The Uwanodai Slope was the very first ski slope at Zao, and its ski lift was the second ever built in Japan. Almost anyone who has ever been skiing at Zao has been down this slope. Its light grade and proximity to the onsen town make it a popular place for lessons and for children. Also open for night skiing, Uwanodai is one of the most popular places on the mountain. You can get a hot meal, a new pair of gloves, or a rest at the Jupeer base center located at the bottom of the slope.
