

Three-Story Pagoda

Important Cultural Property

The pagoda in front of the Daihondo Great Main Hall was built in 1712. It is 25 m tall, and in it are enshrined the Gochi-Nyorai, or the Five Great Buddhas. These celestial Buddhas represent the five all-pervading wisdoms of existence and are central to Shingon Buddhism. The pagoda was restored to its original appearance in 1983. A unique feature is the carved and decorated panels under the roof eaves.
