

When entering a shrine, visitors purify themselves ritually before proceeding toward the main sanctuary. This is done at a temizuya, ritual purification building. There are ladles provided so that you can wash your hands and cleanse your mouth. Everyone, regardless of faith, is welcome to participate.