

The following day, September 9th, features a morning children's parade before a large float of omikoshi (portable shrines) makes its way through town.