

A View to Dive For

Popular with snorkelers for its coral reefs and with excellent diving nearby, Nishibama Beach is a straight stretch of gleaming white sand and one of the very best places to experience Kerama Blue in all its glory. There is a new hip, minimalist three-story terrace right by the stairs leading down to the beach. On the top story, which is level with the car park, there is a wooden viewing terrace with wheelchair access. The second floor features tables and seating overlooking the beach and is ideal for relaxing, eating, or posting pictures to social media with the free Wi-Fi! The bottom floor offers a sand-free space for swimmers and snorkelers to place their things and relax. Behind the beach are a couple of small cafés (summer only). There are also steps leading up to the Nishibama Viewpoint. Like the beach itself, the viewpoint offers serene archipelago views across to Amuro, Zamami, Gahi and Agenashiku.
