

Beach with Sea Turtles

Located in the west of Zamami Island, Ama Beach is one of two beaches on the island with lifeguards on duty. It is best to come at high tide since the water is quite shallow. Doing so will also increase your chances of encountering one of the sea turtles who frequent the area. The snorkeling is good and the beach has nice views over the nearby uninhabited islands of Gahi, Agenashiku, and Amuro.

Immediately behind the beach is a campground and a cluster of cottages which sleep up to ten people. You can rent tents, sleeping bags, and mats, and there are barbecue, kitchen, toilet, and shower facilities.
