

Bronze sutra container

Reproduction

Container for preserving Buddhist sutras. The original was unearthed in the 1930s from the Kinkeisan Sutra Mound in Hiraizumi and features a nested inner container. Scholars believe sutra containers like this one may have been designed as time capsules. The original sutra container is owned by the Tokyo National Museum.