

Five-Story Pagoda

The structure of the pagoda building is single-storied. The other four tiers are layers of bracket complexes and eaves, and cannot be accessed from the main floor. Routine maintenance of the upper floors is performed from outside the structure.

The pagoda houses many religious paintings and sculptures. A statue of Dainichi, the omnipresent Cosmic Buddha of whom all things and phenomena are emanations, sits in front of the central pillar, flanked by statues of buddhas of the four directions.
