The architecture of this bathhouse was inspired by a Japanese lantern; its hexagonal windows are based on the hexagonal basalt formations found at Genbudo Cave, a local landmark. A popular bathhouse for families, this retro-style hot spring offers a children's space as well as a private-use family bath on the second floor. Also equipped with jacuzzi-style tubs and an ample-sized bath, the bathhouse is an ideal hot spring for those with younger ones in tow or people in need of assistance.
