

Winter Activities

While the Tazawako Plateau is a beautiful destination all year round, the snow-covered slopes beckon to winter sports enthusiasts. At Tazawako Ski Resort, everyone from beginners to experienced skiers and snowboarders will find runs to challenge their skills. The resort boasts excellent snowfall and fluffy powder snow on its many trails, and cross-country skiing is also available. The craggy form of Mt. Akita-Komagatake rises above the slopes, and the alpine scenery of the Tazawako Plateau stretches far into the distance below.

Tazawako Ski Resort is also a host of the International Ski Federation's FIS Freestyle Ski Moguls World Cup. The resort first hosted the event during the 2014–2015 season, and did so again in 2018–2019.
