

Kawashiri Coast

When Mt. Kaimon erupted about 3,700 years ago, rocks containing olivine were ejected and later deposited on the Kawashiri coast. Today you can still find traces of this distinctive green mineral on the coast's sandy beaches.