

How can we show our appreciation for Kinkowan Bay? Let us count the ways:

- Be grateful for the fish, shellfish, and other bounty we harvest from clean waters.
- Respect the creatures—leaping dolphins, scuttling hermit crabs, soaring wild birds, and more—who depend on this ecosystem.
- Spend time in nature, enjoying swimming, fishing, and diving.
- Learn how to preserve these tidal flats, which help protect the environment for future generations.

We can change our lifestyles and our interactions with our environment to protect this precious legacy. The fate of Kinkowan Bay and areas like it are in our hands.
