

Present Day (From the Second Half of the Twentieth Century)
The Age of Tourism

We live in a natural environment inherited from previous generations that we regard as very precious. It was designated a national park in 2014. People now come from all over the world to experience the magic of the Keramashoto National Park.