

Bell Tower

The bell tower's thatched roof suggests what the roof of the main hall would originally have looked like. The current bell replaces the one melted down during World War II.