

Yumigahama Cycling Course of Hakushaseisho

The Yumigahama Cycling Course of Hakushaseisho, which opened in 2020, stretches from Sakaiminato to Kaike Onsen, 15.8 kilometers to the east. This flat, tree-lined stretch of coastline has long been attractive to cyclists, and has been used as a training area for triathletes since the 1980s. The 4-meter-wide Yumigahama Cycling Course is entirely asphalt-paved, with rest areas and elevated sightseeing platforms along the way. Signage in Japanese and English indicates points of interest as well as the locations of “cycle ports,” restaurants, convenience stores, and other facilities. Free public foot baths are provided at Kaike Onsen. The course is part of the “Tottori Uminami Road” (total length 138 kilometers) that crosses the coast of Tottori Prefecture from Sakaiminato to the Uradome Coast. It connects to another coastline cycling network that reaches the city of Tottori 80 kilometers to the east.
