

Yura Sea Fishing Park

A network of floating docks stretching 40 meters into Yura Bay gives anglers of all experience levels the opportunity to catch a wide variety of fish at a single site. Yura Sea Fishing Park is operated by the town fishing cooperative and staffed by professionals who can give advice on angling techniques and help identify any species that visitors catch.

The park offers fishing at depths ranging from 3 meters in the shallows to 22 meters at the deepest point. Squid, rockfish, and crustaceans, including spiny lobster, feed and shelter close to the rocky shoreline. Large fish such as seabass and amberjack inhabit the deeper waters of the bay, occasionally coming close to the shore to feed. Visitors to the fishing park can choose where to fish and may switch locations throughout the day. For increased odds, there are five netted fishing holes, usually stocked with amberjack, mackerel, and seabream.

Nets, rods, cooler boxes, and a range of other equipment are available to rent, and there is no time limit for fishing. Anything caught can be filleted and taken away or simply released. Opening and closing times are seasonal and vary throughout the year.
